RICE BROTHERS STAR AS QUINTET DOWNS WILLIAMS, 44 TO 37

Three Hard Games Scheduled For Basket Tossers This Week

(Special to THE CAMPUS)

Williamstown, Mass., Jan. 13.—After the score had been deadlocked at the close of the regular playing time, Middlebury staged a sensational rally in the overtime period to defeat Williams 44 to 37 in basketball here last night. The Rice brothers were the stars of the Black Panther quintet, each finding the basket for fourteen points. Perfect teamwork and passing featured.

The Blue and White basketball team will enter the major part of its schedule this week when it plays three games, two in Western Massachusetts on Tuesday and Wednesday and one at home on Saturday night. The experience received in the games with St. Stephen's and Albany College of Phamacy at the opening of the Christmas recess plus the practise sessions of the past week should put the quintet in fine form for the games this week, all of which will be hard ones.

The team left yesterday on its invasion of the Bay State where it met Williams in the first game last night and today it continued on to Amherst where it will meet the Sabrina hoopsters tonight. The Amherst five is a newcomer on the Middlebury schedule and little is known of their comparative strength this season but it is safe to assume that Middlebury will give the Purple and White a stiff game.

Coach Hargreaves' squad on the trip is made up of Captain Rice, W. Rice, Knowles, Eddy, Towne, Hasseltine, Ryan, Maynard, McNeil, and Manager Johnson. The team will return Thursday afternoon.

On Saturday Middlebury will open the home season with Norwich as the opponent, in the first game of the State Championship series, which Middlebury has a good chance of winning this year. Although the Blue and White has been able to dispose of the cadet hoopsters comparatively easily the past few years it will not be as easy this year since all of the Norwich teams are of a winning calibre of late and plenty of action is assured on the floor of the gym for Saturday night.

PLAN EXCELLENT VOCATIONAL TALKS

Several Outstanding Men To Speak Before Student Body

Plans are being made to bring to Middlebury outstanding men in several different vocations to give lectures to the student body on their respective lines of work, following a conference held last week between Dean Edgar J. Wiley and a representative group of undergraduates.

The value of vocational lectures was thoroughly discussed at this meeting, desirable subjects were suggested and possible speakers were listed. It was thought advisable to have a somewhat smaller number of speakers than in the past, but to present the majority of them before the entire undergraduate body in order that all may get the benefit of the lectures.

In the past few years, Middlebury

HAMILTON WINNER AT HOCKEY AFTER THRILLING BATTLE

Blue Sextet Fights Through Two Extra Periods But Loses, 3 to 2

After two overtime periods of spectacular hockey, Middlebury was finally defeated by Hamilton College by the score of 3 to 2 in a game played at Hamilton on the evening of Friday, Dec. 18th. Both teams played a fast type of hockey during the entire game with H. Whittemore and Van Fleet starring for their respective sides.

The first period was characterized by its extreme closeness. After a series of attempts at the goal, H. Whittemore with a sensational dash down the ice succeeded in caging the first goal. The remainder of the period was scoreless.

In the second period, after 47 minustes of play, Van Fleet tied the score with a long shot down the right wing. The game for the remainder of the period was carried to Hamilton. In the last seconds of play Whittemore scored his second goal. The period ended with the score 2 to 1, in favor of Middlebury.

In the third period Van Fleet broke away again and evened the score with a fast dash down the center of the rink.

It was decided to play two five minute periods. In the first half Van Fleet scored the deciding tally for Hamilton. The second half was featured by a fast scrimmage before the Hamilton cage but after a series of attempts at the goal the period ended without a score.

It was a decidedly clean game in every respect there being no penalties. The Hamilton team was especially strong on the offense and a larger score was only prevented by the strong defense of Twichell, MacLaughlin and Conly. Hal Whittemore, who played a fine game at center, was aided considerably in the scoring of his three goals by the fine puck-carrying of Simmons and Hill at the wings.

The line up:

Middlebury—Hill, rw; H. Whittemore, c; Simmons, lw; Twichell, rd; MacLaughlin, ld; Conly, g. Score, Hamilton 3; Middlebury 2. Goals, Hamilton, Van Fleet (3); Middlebury, Whittemore (2).

SMOOTH PASSING GAME DEVELOPED

Captain Rice and Maynard Win High Scoring Honors

A fifty-fifty record in games won and lost was made by varsity basketball team on its two-game trip into New York State at the opening of Christmas vacation. In both contests, the quintet played aggressively and showed a great deal of strength.

The season opened with a fine start, when, on Friday, December 18, the Middlebury quintet beat the fast St. Stephen's aggregation at Annandale-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., by the score of 29 to 26. The game, which was very fast throughout, was featured by the splendid passing game of the Middlebury team. Maynard, playing in his first varsity contest, was the high scorer for the Blue and Millman, the opposing center, made the most points for St. Stephen's.

The following is the summary of the game:

ALL-STAR CAST IN "GRUMPY" FRIDAY

Play Production ourse Members To Present Popular Play Friday Night

"Grumpy", is the well known three-act play which the Play Production Course has chosen to present to the student body on Friday evening in the College Playhouse at eight o'clock. The play revolves about the character of "Grumpy, a famous old criminal lawyer of peculiar and fastidious idiosyncrosies. Those who are movie-goers will recall the excellent interpretation given the party by Theodore Roberts the famous eccentric old gentleman of the screen. Cyril Maude will be remembered as the star of the stage production of this famous play in New York and London. The now almost necessary mystery element is introduced through the loss of a famous diamond.

Professor Frank W. Cady, head of the course, is coaching the play and is ably assisted by William H. Purdy, '26. As the play will be given only one night, a full house is expected.

WILLIAM BEEBE

Scientist and Explorer, who will Deliver an Illustrated Lecture on Marine Mysteries in the Town Hall tonight.

"THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH" IS CHOSEN AS FRESHMAN PLAY

Will Be Staged In March; Clark '26 To Direct Production

"The Goose Hangs High" has been selected as the freshman play and will be presented in March under the auspices of Wig and Pen, according to a statement released this week by J. Audrey Clark '26, the director.

The play, which was one of the successes of the season two years ago, was first presented by the Dramatist's Theatre, Inc., in January, 1924. It is of special interest to college folk for it brings the younger generation face to face with the older. The earlier scenes portray a family in which the parents are indulgent and the children wilful. The father rebels against pressure that has been brought against him and the family faces the prospect of ultimate poverty. The children, rising to the occasion prove their real worth. Comedy and pathos are delightfully interwoven in the course of the play, which has been enthusiastically praised by the critics.

"The Goose Hangs High" makes a remarkably good production to exhibit the wealth of histrionic materail in the class of 1929. A cast has been tentatively chosen from the members of the class who have been interested in dramatic work during the fall. So closely are the parts in the play and the material in the class allied that an exceptionally well selected qast has been obtained. It will be announced early in February. The play goes into rehearsal immediately after the mid-year examinations. The entire production will be staged and directed by J. Audrey Clark '26, who has been actively connected with dramatics during the past three years. Mr. Clark appeared in "The Admirable Crichton" his freshman year, and "Maroh Hares" last year. He is playing in "Grumpy" this week, and assisted in producing "Charley's Aunt," the sophomore play presented last November.

Faculty Members Play Leads in "Candida"

"Candida", a three-act play by Geo. Bernard Shaw, was presented by the Middlebury Woman's Club, Friday evening, January 8.

The college orchestra furnished music, and the cast, including several of the faculty, was as follows:

Candida.....Mrs. Hathaway
Rev. James Morell.....Prof. Burrage
Eugene Marchabanks..Mr. Shepardson
Mr. Burgess.....Prof. Bonney
Prosperine..Garnett.....Mrs. Barney
Lexy Mills.....Prof. Beers

BEEBE TO LECTURE ON SARGASSO SEA TRIP HERE TONIGHT

Famous Explorer To Give Illustrated Lecture in Town Hall

An illustrated lecture on his recent expedition to the Sargasso Sea is to be given by William Beebe, the explorer, in the Town hall tonight under the auspices of the college. A large crowd is expected for Beebe is famous as a lecturer and explorer and his information in regard to the wonders of the mysterious Sargasso Sea is sure to be interesting. Middlebury is fortunate in securing him for he is giving only 12 lectures on the subject this season. Good tickets for the lecture are still available at Frost's Pharmacy.

Under the direction of the Tropical Research Department of the New York Zoological society, Beebe and his party set sail early in the summer on the S. S. Artcurus, which was perhaps the most completely equipped floating laboratory ever conceived for marine study. to investigate the old legends of weed-entangled ships, of lost armadas and hundreds of other fanciful tales of this Sea of Sargasso.

On board the Arcturus was a skilled staff of scientists and authorities on marine life, and to aid in their study of these forms they carried with them a diving helmet. By the use of this, new fields, fields under water, were investigated at close range, so that Mr. Beebe has now added the conquest of the water, by right of exploration to the achievements of man. Through the medium of this expedition the sea has yielded up some of its secrets to the scientist—enough secrets for the time to add much new data for the Museum and much interest to the reading public and lecture goer.

Unusual pictures were made of the work which have been reproduced in natural colors and these, together with remarkable motion pictures, will be shown here to illustrate Mr. Beebe's lecture.

CHI PSI WINS FIRST NET LEAGUE GAME

Beats Neutrals As Inter-Fraternity Basketball Season Opens

The Chi Psi quintet got off to a good start in the interfraternity basketball series yesterday afternoon when it handed a 35 to 26 defeat to the Neutrals in the opening game of the season. The game was fairly close through out but the Chi Psi always retained a small margin. There was no outstanding star since substitutions were frequent. This game opens the league series. The game is the first of a series which will continue throughout the winter, the Sages offering a cup to the team which stands highest.

Rules governing this year's intra-mural basketball are as follows:

1. No basketball letter men shall be eligible.
2. Any upper classman who shall be retained on the varsity squad at the beginning of the intra-mural series shall be ineligible.
3. Any man that the coach of basketball declares should be on the varsity squad shall be ineligible.
4. Any team not on the floor ready to play 10 minutes after the scheduled time (college time) of starting shall automatically forfeit that game.

WHAT'S THE RUSH?

Perhaps it is not within the scope of the duties of the college paper to tell the students how they should eat. Nevertheless, we wish to point out that something should be done to decrease the speed with which the freshmen class partakes of its three meals a day at Hepburn Commons. At the present time—and conditions now are probably no different than in the past—every freshman seems to consider it his moral duty to pounce upon his meal as soon as it is set before him, devour it with utmost possible dispatch and rush away. The average length of time taken to consume a full dinner is probably not over twelve or fifteen minutes—many do it in eight or ten. The attitude of each individual seems to be that if he does not eat faster than his neighbor, he won't get enough. There is no justification for this attitude for the college authorities will see to it that a sufficient amount of food is supplied.

From two standpoints this practise of rushing is very deplorable. In the first place, the manners developed by this style of eating are atrocious. There is about as much respect shown for one another as in a lumber camp. College should develop one's manners as well as one's mind. People are being continually judged on the basis of the manners which they show. Present conditions of eating make them worse instead of better.

Of even greater importance is the danger of health involved in hurried eating. If the food is not properly masticated,—and it cannot be in a twelve-minute dinner,—the stomach is bound to rebel sooner or later. Perhaps its youthful vitality may withstand trouble for the present, but it cannot stand up under the strain forever and the bad habit of fast eating formed now may result in serious impairmen of health later on.

In an effort to do away with this evil, we suggest that the following rules be enforced:

1. No one at a table shall start eating until all are served.
2. Waiters shall not put a second course on the table until all have finished the first course, giving due respect to the slowest eaters.
3. All persons at a table shall leave together. These rules need not be observed at breakfast.

Surely, no hardship will be inflicted upon anyone by having to wait until others have finished. None of the freshmen are tongue-tied and there are plenty of live topics for conversation at all times in a college dormitory. Why not intersperse some conversation with the food instead of bolting the meal and then rushing out to stand around in the hall and talk? Until this age of rush and hurry overtook us, conversation used to be considered as much a part of a meal as bread and butter.

The ordinary person will probably be surprised that the rules suggested above are not observed at present for they involve only the simplest kind of courtesy. Their observance might modify the worst of the evils and certainly could result in no harm.

UNFAIR SELECTION

It is generally understood that one gains a place in extra-curricular activities through competition. We witness the results of it every day, in athletics, journalism, debating, and all the rest. The training is necessarily long and tends to become tedious, but with the hope of reward in the end these difficulties become of minor importance.

Choices are usually made on the basis of ability and faithfulness in routine matters. Those who have expended the greatest time and effort in perfecting their talents naturally expect some recognition at the day of reckoning. Sometimes we find personal favoritism and prejudice entering into the selections. It is inevitable that this element will show itself, but it should be carefully avoided when choosing men to represent the college in any activity which may be brought to mind. Besides the inferior product which is bound to result, there will naturally be a tendency to discourge all effort on the part of the individuals concerned.

It has been brought to our attention that there has been some unfortunate selection or method of selection for the coming glee club trip. It seems as though this choice of the personnel should have been put in the hands of the faculty leader who has followed the competitors all the year, and not left to the students or outsiders for final decision. Some one acquainted with the work of the men should at least have passed judgment on the choices. Ability is necessarily of primary importance, but faithfulness should be taken into consideration.

Some were picked who had never tried out, others who had perhaps attended one or two rehearsals, while men who had missed as few as the former had attended were dropped entirely when the reward was given. If the club is to take its place among similar organiations in competition shouldnt it be composed of the best material available, rather than of those who are unfamiliar with its work?

Dean Is Making Plans For Vocational Lectures

has made quite a reputation for herself by the excellence of the program of vocational lectures and by the high rank of the men who have been secured to deliver them. Among the lecturers in the past have been Dean Roscoe Pound, Prof. Felix Frankfurter, Robert L. O'Brien, editor of the Boston Herald, Prof. George P. Baker, formerly of the Harvard 47 Workshop, now of Yale, George H. Doran, publisher, Joseph P. Day and others of equally high rank in their respective fields.

According to present plans, the program for this year will, even more than in the past be made up of men who are outstanding in their professions and businesses. A special effort will be made to secure men who are known to be good speakers as well as experts on their subjects. It is quite possible that a few of the best speakers of thre or four years ago will make return visits to Middlebury.

Among the various fields for work for college graduates which will be discussed, will probably be Business Administration, Writing, Life Insurance, Dramatics, Engineering, Athletic Coaching, Hotel Management, Polotics and Stocks.

SKI MEN FAIL TO SCORE AT PLACID

Lack of Snow Allowed No Practice; New Hampshire and Wisconsin Win

Middlebury failed to score a point in the Intercollegiate winter sports carnival held at Lake Placid December 31 and January 1. Four men were entered but due to the fact that they had had no practice on account of the lack of snow, they were not in condition to meet the severe competition First honors in the meet were won by New Hampshire and Wisconsin with fifteen points each. Dartmouth won third honors and Williams sixth.

Middlebury was represented by Manager Grow, '26, who was entered in the snow-shoe dashes, Robinson, '26, in the snow-shoe cross-country race, Hunt, '29, in the ski-jumping, Burrows, '29, in the skating event races. Hunt although failing to gain a place in events completed at trial jump of ninety-six feet in perfect form.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of The Campus:

There appeared in a recent issue (Dec. 18) of "The Jewish Tribune" an article entitled "Jewish Football Stars." Ordinarily, this would be of little or no interest to Middlebury students, but in this case it may hold a slightly humorous appeal.

The writer of the article has picked an All-Jewish All-American football team followed by a list of those who are worthy of honorable mention. And whom should we find among these carefully chosen players but our mutual friend, Al Brosowsky '26! He—the same and no other!

May I suggest that this matter of nationality be taken before the League of Nations or the Ku Klux Klan? The simple fact that Coach Klevenow forbids his men to indulge in pork in any of its fifty-seven varieties is no reason why members of the squad should be eligible to membership in the Y. M. H. A.

Sincerely,
NORMAN H. POLHEMUS, '25,

P. S. I am not a regular reader of "The Jewish Tribune."

Fifty couples attended an informal dance in the gymnasium Saturday evening. Music was furnished by Gruggel's Serenaders. Chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Duane L. Robinson and Dean Eleanor Ross.

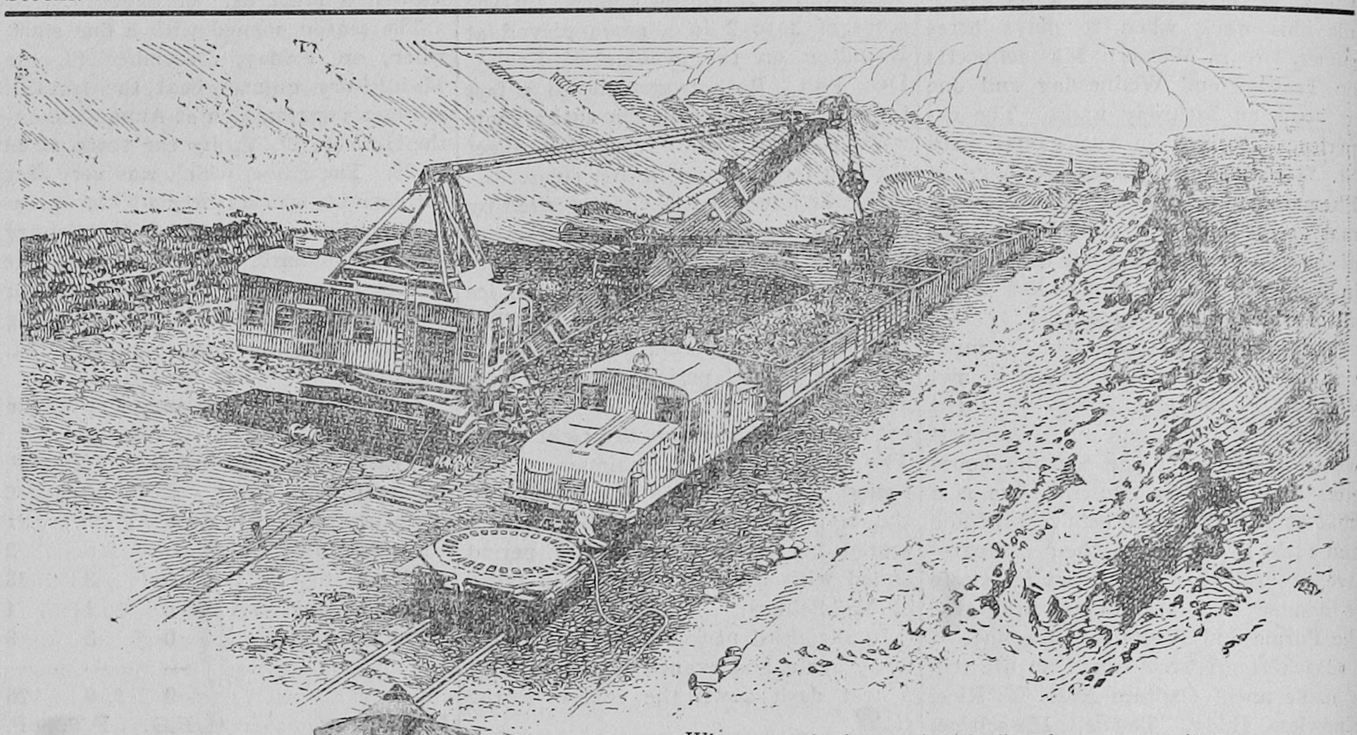
"Billy" Farrell, Jr., Buys Hanks' Clothing Store

According to an announcement made public this morning, William Farrell, Jr., has bought out the Clayton M. Hanks Clothing Store. Mr. Farrell is well known to all Middlebury students and graduates, he having worked at Hanks' for the past fifteen years. The store will continue under the old name.



Where motorized power is virtually unknown, men toil yet accomplish little. The United States has over one-quarter electrical horsepower installed per capita. Japan, leading country of the Orient, has but .04 horsepower. Electric shovel and storage battery locomotive are shown at a completely electrified open-pit coal mine, at Colstrip, Montana.

Work without Toil

Ten or twelve hours a day toils the coolie. If he carries all he can, he moves one ton one mile in one day. For that he receives twenty cents.

Cheap labor! Yet compared with our American worker, receiving at least twenty-five times as much for an eight-hour day, the coolie is expensive labor. In America we move one ton one mile for less than one cent. The coolie, working by hand, accomplishes little; while the American, with electricity's aid, accomplishes much.

Plenty of electricity and cheap electricity —these are two great advantages which America enjoys over the rest of the world. While our present generating capacity is 20,600,000 kilowatts, new developments call for 3,000,000 kilowatts more per year.

To college men and women—potential leaders—will fall the duty of finding more and still more work for electricity, with less and still less toil for our workers. For the task is but begun!

G-E Motorized Power—an ideal combination of electric motor and control properly fitted to the individual task—is at work the world-over, relieving workers more and more for better and more profitable pursuits.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request.

"NOTHING CAN BE HIDDEN" IS TEXT OF MOODY'S SERMON

Prexy Speaks From Chapel Pulpit in Sunday Vespers

At Vespers Sunday evening, President Moody chose as his topic the famous Bible quotation: "There is nothing covered that will not be revealed; hid that will not be known." He illustrated his text with the story of Moses as told in Exodus 2:12, "And he looked this way and that way, and when he saw that there was no man, he slew the Egyptian and hid him in the sand."

"Moses' first mistake was thus looking around to see if anyone was watching. It is not a question whether someone sees what we are doing, but whether we are doing right or wrong. Moses' second mistake was that he did not realize that God saw him and that he saw himself.

"It should hurt us more to know ourselves when we do wrong than to be falsely accused by others.

"Unless I kill my consciousness, I never can be satisfied not knowing myself when others know me—unless I am a hypocrite.

"We must also remember we do not sin unto ourselves alone. We never do anything without someone else being harmed also. If in the secretness of the heart is cultivated a weed of poison, when we are called upon to do anything for someone else, we will be uncapable.

"After all it is not the words we say nor the things we do which matter most, but what we are. It is character above everything else that counts. Character is what a man is in the dark.

"If everyone did wrong when it was thought others could not see, we would lose faith in men and women which would be the worst possible horror.

"If you repeat to yourself the little poem:

'If I cannot be what I seem:
Let me seem what I am,'

you will discover your true self. And remember as you see yourself, so the world and, above all, God, will see you."

PUCKSTERS PRACTISE FOR COMING GAMES

Game With Union Postponed; Other Changes In Schedule

Elated over their showing against Hamilton, which was truly remarkable after the 8-0 defeat received last year, the Blue and White ice team is practising daily in preparation for the hard games on the remainder of the schedule. The pucksters were handicapped during the greater part of last week by the weather conditions but worked out in the gym to keep in trim for better ice. However with cold weather of the latter part of the week the rink again offers a good playing surface for practice.

Several changes have been made in the schedule as originally announced so that the game scheduled with Union at Schenectady on Saturday has been moved to later in the season and the date with the Army at West Point on January 20 has been advanced to February 17, in order not to conflict with semester exams which start on that date.

With these changes the teams next opponents will be Amherst and Massachusetts Aggies, both of whom will be met in Amherst on the sixth and eighth of February. At present Manager Schaeffer is dickering with St. Michael's for a game to be played here on Saturday but this is not settled as yet.

Many Entries In Handball Tourney

The annual college hand-ball tournament opened Monday and gives promise of some fine competition, especially among the freshman class, which has the most contestants. At the close of the entries there were twenty-nine signed up.

There will be four rounds, the best two out of three games determining the advancing player. The winners of the fourth round will draw for opponents for the college championship.

BABOON TO ISSUE BOOTLEG NUMBER

Extra Pages in Issue That Will Appear January 25; Girls Number Coming Later

The next issue of the Blue Baboon, which will be a Bootleg Number, will appear on January 25 according to present plans and will be one of the largest of the species from which man was descended that has ever been published. The coming number will contain twenty-eight pages and will be well illustrated with cuts, including more than the usual number of full page art offerings together with an attractive frontispiece.

The annual Girls Number will follow early in March and it is planned to have this exclusively the product of the feminine sense of humor. All members of the Women's College are urged to submit both literary and art contributions for this number and attractive prizes have been selected for the girls offering the best contributions in these two lines.

Quintet Wins One, Loses One On Trip Before Vacation

tion played one of the fastest games seen on any Albany court for a number of years, according to Albany papers, but could not gain a winning margin.

In the third minute of play the Middlebury team got to the lead by several well placed shots from the floor. Up to the last few minutes of play neither team was at any time very far ahead. At this time, however, Eccles, the Pharmacy School's star got away for a fresh start and after a hard struggle obtained a lead that the Blue could not overcome.

Captain Rice was the high score man for Middlebury while Eccles starred for the Albany quintet.
